LA FONDATION POLYKAR DONATES CAD$35,000 TO RESPOND TO THE COVID-19 CRISIS IN THE DEVELOPING WORLD

Montreal, 12 May 2020

La Fondation Polykar today announced the donation of CAD$35,000 to support critical responses to the COVID-19 pandemic in the developing world.

Across the globe and in just a few short months, COVID-19 has given rise to overwhelmed health care systems and an unparalleled need for human support, alongside tragic and immense loss of life. Whilst in Canada, most of us have access to an organized and effective health care infrastructure, many parts of the world are simply not equipped to deal with such an unprecedented pandemic.

By contributing to Aga Khan Foundation Canada, La Fondation Polykar will contribute to the Global Pandemic Relief Fund launched by the Aga Khan Development Network. Their response to the worldwide threat of COVID-19 includes efforts across multiple areas which include providing emergency food aid, basic medicines, shelter to vulnerable groups and supporting a multitude of public health measures to “flatten the curve”, as well as providing high-quality medical care to those infected.

As Amir Karim, President of La Fondation Polykar commented, “In Canada, we are so fortunate to have governance around public services, robust health care systems and established civil society organizations to deal with this unprecedented crisis. Most of the developing world cannot count on any of these three pillars, so we have a fundamental duty to support efforts to assist vulnerable communities in need.”
